Profile

Sonia is currently serving as a Legal Officer at MRB Attorneys, where she provides comprehensive legal support across litigation, corporate and advisory matters. Deeply versed in Rwandan legal procedures, she conducts in-depth legal research, drafts contracts and prepares detailed legal opinions to support diverse client needs.

In her current role, she also manages essential operational, corporate and litigation procedures. Her responsibilities include drafting demand letters, preparing clients' court submissions and drafting criminal complaints. Additionally, she handles electronic filings through the Integrated Electronic Case Management System (IECMS), tracks case progress, and assists with client consultations.

Prior to her current appointment, Sonia built a strong practical foundation through targeted legal clerkships. She completed a one-year Professional legal internship at MRB Attorneys, where she strengthened her drafting, analytical and litigation supporting skills. She also completed her judicial internship at the Primary Court of Nyarugenge, gaining valuable exposure to court administration, judicial procedures and case management.

Sonia's ongoing pursuit of a Bachelor's degree in Law has equipped her with a comprehensive academic background in commercial, civil, and criminal litigation. She seamlessly bridges her robust theoretical knowledge with practical expertise in modern legal practice.
